Their Trials and Convictions before the Honorable Sir John Powel, Knight, one of Their Majesties Justices, at the Assizes holden at York, on the 16th. of September, 1690.

AS MURDER is one of the Greatest Crimes that Man can be guilty of, so is it no less Strangely and Providentially discovered, when privately committed. The foul Criminal believes himself secure, because there was no Witness of the Fact. Not considering that the All-seeing Eye of Heaven beholds his conceal'd Iniquity, and by some means or other bringing it to Light, never permits it to go Unpunished. And indeed so certainly does the Revenge of God pursue the Abominated MURDERER that when Witnesses are wanting of the Fact, the very Ghost of the Murdered-Parties cannot rest quiet in their Graves, till they have made the Detection themselves. Of this we are now to give the Reader,

Two Remarkable Examples that lately happened in Yorkshire; And no less Signal for the Truth of both Tragedies, as being confirmed by Trial of the Offenders, at the last Assizes held for that County.

The First of these Murders was committed by William Barwick, upon the Body of Mary Barwick, his Wife, at the same time big with Child. What were the Motives that induc'd the Man to do this Horrid Fact, does not appear by the Examination of the Evidence, or the Confession of the Party: Only it appeared upon his Trial that he had got her with Child, before he Married her: And 'tis very probable that being then constrained to Marry her, he grew weary of her; which was the Reason he was so willing to be rid of her, tho' he he ventur'd Body and Soul to accomplish his Design.

The Murder was committed upon Palm-Monday, being the Fourteenth of April last, about Two of the Clock in the Afternoon, at what time the said Barwick having drill'd his Wife along till he came to a certain Cloſe, within ſight of Carnood-Caſtle, where he found the Convenience of a Pond, he threw her by force into the Water, and when ſhe was Drown'd, and drawn forth again by himſelf upon the Bank of the Pond, had the Cruelty to behold the Motion of the Infant, yet warm in her Womb. This done, he conceal'd the Body, as it may readily be ſuppos'd among the Buſhes, that uſually encompaſs a Pond, and the next night, when it grew duſkily, fetching a Hay-ſpade from a Rick that ſtood in the Cloſe, he made a Hole by the ſide of the Pond, and there ſlightly Buried the Woman in her Cloaths.

Having thus diſpatched two at once, and thinking himſelf ſecure, becauſe (unſeen) he went the ſame day to his Brother-in-Law, one Thomas Loſthouſe of Rufforth, within Three Miles of Tork, who had Married his drown'd Wifes Siſter, and told him he had carried his Wife to one Richard Harrison's Houſe in Selby, who was his Uncle, and would take care of her. But Heaven would not be ſo deluded, but rais'd up the Ghoſt of the Murder'd Woman to make the Diſcovery. And therefore it was that upon the Eaſter-Tueſday following, about Two of the Clock in the Afternoon, the fore-mention'd Loſthouſe, having occaſion to Water a Quickſet Hedge, not far from his Houſe, as he was going for the Second Pail-full, an Apparition went before him in the Shape of a Woman, and ſoon after ſat down upon a Riſing Green Graſs-Plat, right over againſt the Pond: He walk'd by her as he went to the Pond; and as he return'd with his Pail from the Pond, looking ſide-ways to ſee whether ſhe continu'd in the ſame place, he found ſhe did; and that ſhe ſeem'd to Dandle ſomething in her Lap, that look'd like a White-Bag (as he thought) which he did not obſerve before. So ſoon as he had emptied his Pail, he went into his Yard, and ſtood ſtill to try whether he could ſee her again; but ſhe was vaniſh'd.

In his Information, he ſays, That the Woman ſeem'd to be habit'd in a Brown Colour'd Petticoat, Waſtecoat, and a White Hood; ſuch a one as his Wifes Siſter uſually wore; and that her Countenance look'd extream Pale and Wan, with her Teeth in ſight, but no Gums appearing; and that her Phyſiognomy was like to that of his Wifes Siſter, who was Wife to William Barwick.

But notwithſtanding the Gaſtlineſs of this Apparition, it ſeems it made ſo little Impreſſion in Loſthouſe's Mind, that he thought no more of it, neither did he ſpeak to any Body concerning it, till the ſame Night as he was at his Family Duty of Prayer, that that Apparition return'd again to his Thoughts, and diſcompos'd his Devotion;

So that after he had made an end of his Prayers, he told the whole Story of what he had ſeen to his Wife: Who laying Circumſtances together, immediately inferr'd, that her Siſter was either Drown'd, or otherwiſe Murder'd, and deſir'd her Husband to look after her the next day, which was the Wedneſday in Eaſter-Week. Upon this, Loſthouſe recollecting what Barwick had told him of his carrying his Wife to his Uncle at Selby, repairs to Hariſon before-mentioned, but found all that Barwick had ſaid to be falſe; for that Hariſon had neither heard of Barwick nor his Wife, neither did he know any thing of them. Which notable Circumſtance, together with that other of the Apparition increas'd his Suſpicions to that degree, that now concluding his Wifes Siſter was Murdered, he went to the Lord Mayor of Tork; and having obtained his Warrant, got Barwick apprehended: who was no ſooner brought before the Lord Mayor, but his own Conſcience then accuſing him, he acknowledged the whole Matter, as it has been already related, as it appears by his Examination and Confeſſion herewith Printed: To which are alſo annex'd the Informations of Loſthouſe, in like manner taken before the Lord Mayor of Tork, for a further Teſtimony and Confirmation of what is here ſet down.

On Wedneſday the Sixteenth of September 1690, The Criminal William Barwick was brought to his Trial before the Honorable Sir John Powel, Knight, one of the Judges of the Northern Circuit, at the Aſſizes holden at Tork, where the Priſoner pleaded not guilty to his Indictment: But upon the Evidence of Thomas Loſthouſe, and his Wife, and a Third Perſon, That the Woman was found Buried in her Cloaths in the Cloſe by the Pond-ſide, agreeable to the Priſoner's Confeſſion, and that ſhe had ſeveral Bruiſes on her Head, occaſioned by the Blows the Murderer had given her to keep her under Water: and upon Reading the Priſoner's Confeſſion before the Lord Mayor of Tork, atteſted by the Clerk, who wrote the Confeſſion, and who ſwore the Priſoner's owning and ſigning it for Truth, he was found Guilty, and Sentenced to death, and afterwards ordered to be hang'd in Chains.

All the Defence which the Priſoner made, was only this, That he was threatned into the Confeſſion that he had made, and was in ſuch a Conſternation, that he did not know what he ſaid or did. But then it was ſworn by Two Witneſſes, that there was no ſuch thing as any Threatning made uſe of; but that he made a Free and Voluntary Confeſſion, only with this Addition at firſt; That he told the Lord Mayor, he had ſold his Wife for Five Shillings: But not being able to name either the Perſon or the Place where ſhe might be produc'd, that was look'd upon as too frivolous to out-weigh Circumſtances, that were Proofs too apparent.

The Information of Thomas Lofthouse, of Rufforth, taken upon Oath the Twentyfourth Day of April 1690,

WHO sayeth and deposeth, That one William Barwick, who lately Married this Informant's Wifes Sister came to this Informant's House, about the Fourteenth instant, and told this Informant, he had carried his Wife to one Richard Harrison's House in Selby, who was Uncle to him, and would take care of her; and this Informant bearing nothing of the said Barwick's Wife, his said Sister-in-Law, imagined he had done her some mischief, did Yesterday go to the said Harrison's House in Selby, where he said he had carried her to; And the said Harrison told this Informant, he knew nothing of the said Barwick, or his Wife, and this Informant doth verily believe the said Barwick to have Murdered her;

On Tuesday September the Seventeenth 1690, at York Assizes.

THOMAS Lofthouse of Rufforth, within Three Miles of York City, sayeth that on Easter Tuesday last, about Half an Hour after Twelve of the Clock, in the day time, he was Watering Quickwood, and as he was going for the second Pail, there appeared walking before him, an Apparition in the Shape of a Woman, soon after she sat down over against the Pond, on a Green-Hill, he walked by her as he went to the Pond, and as he came with the Pail of Water from the Pond, looking side-ways to see if she sat in the same Place, which he saw she did; and had on her Lap something like a White Bag, a dandling of it (as he thought) which he did not observe before: After he had emptied his Pail of Water, he stood in his Tard, to see if he could see her again; but could not: He says her Apparell was Brown Cloaths, Wastecoat and Petticoat, a White hood, such as his Wifes Sister usually wore, and her Face looked extream Pale, her Teeth in sight, no Gums appearing, her Visage being like his Wifes Sister, and Wife to William Barwick.

The

TH E Second was a Murder committed by one Edward Mangall, upon the Body of Elizabeth Johnson alias Ringrose, the Fourth of September last past, at a Place called King's Causey, near Adlingfleet, in the County of Tork. He had got her with Child, at least as she pretended; and was brought to Bed of a Boy, which she called William, and laid him to Mangall's Charge, and required him to Marry her: which he refused at first to do, but afterwards pretending to make her his Wife, bid her go before him down Kings Causey, towards the Church, and he would follow her, as he did; but knock'd out her Brains in a Close by the Way, and at the same time, as was shrewdly suspected, Kill'd the Child.

This Mangall being Examined by Mr. William Mauleverer the Coroner confessed that he had Murder'd the Woman; but denied that he meddl'd with the Boy. And being ask'd why he Murder'd the Woman, he made answer that the Devil put him upon it; appearing to him in a Flash of Lightning, and directing him where to find the Club, wherewith he committed the Murder. So ready is the Devil with his Temptations, when he find a Tempter casie to work upon.

He was Convicted and found Guilty upon the Evidence of Ann Hinde, and his own Confession to the Coroner, as may be seen by the Information annexed; and was thereupon Sentenced to death, and order'd to be Hang'd in Chains, as Barwick was before him, he making no Defence for himself for so Foul and Horrid a Murder, but that he was tempted thereto by the Devil.

Informations taken upon Oath, September the 10th 1690.

The Information of Ann Hinde, Wife of James Hinde, of Adlingfleet, in the County of Tork, Husband-man, upon her Oath saith;

That on Monday, the first of September, one Elizabeth Johnson, alias Ringrose, came to her House in the Evening, with a Child she called William; and the said Elizabeth the next Day told this Deponent, That the said Elizabeth was going to Gawthorpe, in the County of Lincoln, to seek for one Edward Mangall, who had got her with that Child, to see if he would Marry her: Upon which this Deponent went with the said Elizabeth, to persuade him to Marry her; but he denied having any dealings with her. But this Deponent doth further Depose, That on the fourth of September, the said Edward came to this Deponents House, and asked for the said Elizabeth; if she were there she might serve a Warrant on him, if she had one, for he was going to Rawelyff, to consult his Friends about it; and after some private Discourse had betwixt the said Edward and the said Elizabeth, the said Elizabeth told this Deponent, that he said, The said Elizabeth might go down King's-Cawley, and he would follow her, and Marry her: And this Deponent did see the said Elizabeth go down King's-Cawley; and a little after this Deponent saw the said Edward also go down the King's-Cawley; and after that, this Deponent did not see the said Elizabeth, nor the said Child till she saw them lye dead.
